SUCCESS OF U.S. POLAR FLIGHT THREATENED BY FACTIONAL DIFFERENCES

MILLION DOLLAR SUIT IS FILED AGAINST MOTHER

Girl Claims She Was Kept Prisoner In Her Affidavit.

New York, Jan. 19.—Miss Helen J. French, a dashing brunette of 23, told an amazing story of an alleged plot in which she says she was drugged with morphine and held a prisoner for months. Her story became public when she began suit for $1,000,000 damages.

Her story is all the more astounding because one of the defendants is her mother, whom she designates in the suit as both Helen F. Darling and Mrs. William W. Stevenson. Other defendants are William W. Stevenson, comptroller of the Mutual Life Assurance company, and Dr. Joseph Henry Cahoon.

The impelling motive for the alleged conspiracy, Miss French says, was an effort to force her into silence as to an alleged intrigue which she says has existed between her mother and Stevenson.

The mother declared: "I will not discuss such nonsense." Both Stevenson and Dr. Cahoon denied the charges.

Miss French, who is said to be heiress to a substantial sum, says in her affidavit:

"When I came to live with my mother, about a year ago, after a long absence, during which I toured the world, I found Dr. Cahoon was a daily and nightly visitor, coming in the evening, morning and sometimes during the night. They tried to get me to become a drug addict—both Dr. Cahoon and mother, as well as Mr. Stevenson, which I naturally refused.

"Because I remonstrated with them that it was an outrageous piece of work and that I would inform the authorities, I was kept a prisoner at home for months at a time. When least expected an injection of morphine would be given me by Dr. Cahoon. I became virtually out of my mind from the treatment.

"Last April I was given such an injection and the next thing I knew I was in a sanitarium, having been taken there in Mr. Stevenson's car. I was kept there two months, all liberties denied, and all bills paid by Mr. Stevenson. When I came out conditions continued as before. It seems that the three were afraid I would get away and show them up—show the lives they had been living and how they had treated me."

She goes on to tell how she was confined in a second sanitarium in New Jersey, from which she fled in the night by making a rope with the sheets on her bed and sliding from the second story window. She made her way to New York and to the home of friends, to whom she told her story and retained an attorney.

Mrs. Kraus has been in the reformatory for about 14 months. She was sent up from Pomeroy.

Secret Inquiry Into Trouble Between Kinkaid and Heinen Starts

GERMAN UNDER FIRE

Navy Men Say Native of Germany Is Over Credited

Lakehurst, N. J., Jan. 19—Factional differences, which today threatened the success of the United States navy's proposed polar flight next June were reported at the naval air station, home port of the giant dirigible Shenandoah here.

A secret inquiry ordered by Commander Ralph D. Weyerbacher, construction engineer of the ship, was in progress behind closed doors.

Reports outside the meeting room were that Lieut. E. H. Kinkaid, assistant navigation officer, pilot of the Shenandoah, on her wild ride of Wednesday night and Thursday morning, would amplify his complaint made yesterday aghinst Captain Anton Heinen, civilian engineer, generally credited with saving the ship.

Heinen, who spent last night in New York, returned to Lakehurst today to attend the inquiry.

Officers refused to comment on Lieutenant Kinkaid's statements in which he took issue with what he termed "Heinen's effort to run the ship."

There was no secret here today that the navy men feel that Heinen, a civilian and a native of Germany, although he has applied for citizenship, has been over-credited in the part he played in saving the ship.

Whether Heinen will reply to Kinkaid publicly, could not be learned. He was to make a statement to Commander Weyerbacher, however, and this was to be forwarded to Washington.

Factional differences between two groups at the air station have been an open secret for months.

Captain Frank R. McCrary, commander of the ship, refused to discuss a report that a majority of the ship's crew of forty men had refused to volunteer to sail, under his command, on the proposed polar flight.

A week ago, it was learned, the crew was given the opportunity to volunteer for the trip. Every officer signed at once. It was reported here today that only five men had agreed to make the trip. The others, it was said, asked that a new commander be named to head the flight.

Work of repairing the damage to the ship moved rapidly today. Three hundred men were engaged in removing the outer covering of the ship and storing the helium supply, valued at nearly $1,000,000.

The patients were mostly women, including some with newborn babies and several who had been operated on a few hours before the hospital building was ablaze. There were no casualties.

ENGLISH RAIL STRIKE IS TO BE CALLED OFF

Negotiations Saturday Said To Have Been Successful.

London, Jan. 19.—Negotiations for averting the threatened strike of railway locomotive engineers have been satisfactory, it was announced this afternoon. It is probably that the strike, which was called for tomorrow night will be called off.

In a supreme effort to avert the general strike of railway locomotive engineers, railway union leaders conferred with representatives of the companies, seeking a preliminary basis upon which further discussions could be based. It is understood locomotive engineers offered to postpone the strike if the managers (representatives of the railway companies) would defer operation of the wage award of the national tribunal. The union accepted the award as well as the companies, but subsequently repudiated it.

There was no session of Parliament today so the Laborite members of Commons had plenty of time to work for a last minute settlement.

There was a heavy movement of freight and passenger traffic. Travelers hastened toward their homes, fearing to be marooned if they remained until the strike went into effect.

Foodstuffs and perishables were moved at passenger train speed to the destinations. Plans are being made to use airplanes and motor busses if railway traffic is brought to a standstill.

The attorney general stated his report will contain nothing of a sensational nature.

U.S. AIDING OBREGON TO END REVOLUTION

LEASES OF OIL LANDS MAY BE REVOKED BY U.S.

Congress Almost Certain To Take Early Action On Issue

Washington, Jan. 19.—As a result of revelations made in the senate committee's investigation into the transfer of government oil reserve lands to private ownership, it became practically certain that congress will demand revocation of leases in the Teapot Dome and other sections.

This action will take the form of a joint resolution calling on President Coolidge to set aside these leases. The president is watching closely all developments in the investigation, but will take no action until the senate has completed its inquiry and congress has acted.

Senators who are following every move in the investigation say that it promises to disclose one of the worst scandals in the official life of Washington.

Action by the president could be in the form of an executive order cancelling the oil leases, or an instruction to the attorney general to prosecute, or both.

Senator Thomas J. Walsh, a member of the public lands committee, to which the senate confided the investigation, will report to the committee next Monday. He will submit the results of his trip to Palm Beach, Fla., where, by authority of the committee, he questioned Edward B. McLean, Washington publisher, regarding Mr. McLean's alleged (and denied) loan of $100,000 to Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, who executed the leases. This transfer placed the Teapot Dome and other exceedingly valuable oil properties in the hands of Secretary Fall.

The charges made by Senator Caraway in his speech in the senate last Wednesday, in which he declared that the leasing of Teapot Dome by Secretary Fall was a "gigantic conspiracy," have brought a flood of letters to senators and representatives which show that the whole country is aroused over the matter.

Senator Caraway's charges have been denied by former Secretary Fall in a statement issued in New Orleans, in which he declares he received no compensation from the Sinclair oil interests in connection with the Teapot Dome lease. This denial was read with considerable interest by senators who have been following the investigation. It probably will lead to more debate in the senate by Caraway and others.

The chief point in controversy revolves about the $100,000 which Secretary Fall admits he received several months after the Teapot Dome lease was executed, the money being used by him in the purchase of another ranch in New Mexico. Fall, in a letter to the investigating committee, declared he got this money from Edward B. McLean, and the committee subsequently received a communication from McLean's lawyers admitting this was so.

REBELS LOSING; FEDERAL TROOPS WILL USE TEXAS

Permission Granted To Obregon to Send Soldiers Through

Washington, Jan. 19—Behind a wall of official silence, the U. S. government was moving in various ways today to aid the Obregon government in suppressing the De La Huerta revolution and to insure the protection of American lives, property and commerce in the Mexican trouble zone.

While confirmation of reported naval movements was still withheld, it is understood that orders are pending—if they have not ectually been sent out—for the detachment of a small naval force from the combined fleets in Panama waters and its despatch to the region of Tampico, where De La Huerta's two gunboats have been molesting foreign shipping and attempting to blockade the port.

Neither the State Department nor White House would deny today reports that the vessels actually were enroute. Neither would they confirm the reports. Questions dealing with naval movements merely met with replies that "the situation could not be discussed" from that angle, and that "a reasonable amount of reticence" was necessary in discussion of the Mexican situation at all.

Naval authorities said it would take four days for vessels to reach Tampico from Colon, where the combined Atlantic and Pacific fleets have been conducting maneuvers. They consider a small force, probably several cruisers and several destroyers, would be amply sufficient to send the rebel gunboats scurrying and insure the uninterrupted flow of commerce from the great oil fields of the Tampico district.

Washington, Jan. 19—Mexican federal troops will be permitted to pass through the state of Texas at El Paso, it was announced at the state department today.

The decision of Acting Governor Davidson of Texas, not to permit the movement, has been reversed, and plans have been worked out so that the Mexican troops will only pass over a very small part of Texas territory in their trip through the United States.

SHIP'S PASSENGER DISAPPEARS WHEN VESEL IS DOCKED

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 19.—When the Old Dominion steamer Jefferson from New York, docked here last night, H. P. Burnett, a passenger who gave his address as New York City, was missing. A note to the purser, two letters, a bunch of keys and a few coins were found in Burnett's disordered stateroom.

Burnett was last seen by a Negro porter about seven o'clock Thursday night.

Just before sailing from New York Thursday afternoon an undertaker brought a corpse aboard the Jefferson and bargained with Burnett to act as its attendant to Norfolk. The law requires every corpse must be accompanied by a passenger and there is nothing unusual in the situation.

A note addressed to the purser read:

"The undertaker will call for his corpse at Norfolk. I am instructed to give this baggage check to him but as I am unable to do this, I will be obliged if you will.

"Signed)

"H. P. Burnett."

Detective Nowiskey, assigned to the case, mailed the two letters found in Burnett's stateroom without opening them. One was addressed to Mrs. A. B. Burchell, 159 West 78th Street, and the other to Mrs. J. Boissanade, 140 East 13th Street, New York City.

NURSE DECLARES SHE IS VICTIM OF A FRAMEUP

Implicated In Murder of Massillon Policeman 3 Years Ago

Philadelphia, Jan. 19— Still protesting her innocence and charging she is a victim of a "frameup" by parties who "won't let her live straight," Myrtle Atkinson, 31, Ironton,O., nurse in a private hospital here today was awaiting hearing on a charge of implication in the murder of Thomas Glynn a Massillon, O, policeman, three years ago.

"It's all a frameup," she declared hysterically after a warrant had been read to her at the bedside of a patient. "I wouldn't go back so they erump up in this mess. Now they won't let and testify against my friends. I was a bad woman out there and got mixed up in this mess. Now they won't let me alone, even though I am trying to live straight. I'll go back—but I'll never try to be good again."

Claude Osterholt, former Akron policeman, is now awaiting trial for Glynn's murder as a result of an alleged deathbed confession of Alexander Pallas, "king of the underworld" that he had hired Osterholt to slay Glynn.

Miss Atkinson declares he is innocent.

PAROLE REFUSED FOR MRS. KRAUS

Berlin, Jan. 19.—The fall of the French franc is alleged to have been brought about mainly through a Wall street offensive against the French money, directed by J. P. Morgan. Early last year Morgan is said to have bought extensively of French bonds and stocks and all sorts of obligations. It was taken then as an effort by Morgan to participate in French industry. It is now stated that all of these obligations were thrown on the market in one day, causing the collapse of the franc, which had already been weakened by the stand of the French government. It is suspected that British capital is participating in the offensive.

COUZENS FLINGS TAX CHALLENGE AT SEC. MELLON

Senator Would Have Official Tell Public What He's Worth

Washington, Jan. 19.—A direct challenge to Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon to tell the public how much he is worth and how much he personally would save under the reduction of surtax proposed in the Mellon tax reduction program was issued today by Senator James Couzens, Republican, of Michigan.

Senator Couzens wrote Mr. Mellon a letter, declaring that he, Couzens had revealed the extent of his wealth and the taxes he had paid, and he felt it was no more than fair that Mr. Mellon should do the same.

The Michigan senator also renewed his challenge to the secretary to engage in a public debate with him on the merits of the Mellon tax plan, proposing that they hire a hall and go "fifty-fifty" on expenses. Couzens originally made this offer a week ago, but it was ignored in the reply that Mr. Mellon sent to him.

In his letter today, Senator Couzens warmly disputed the figures and argument advanced by Mr. Mellon in support of the Mellon program, and accused the secretary of making "absolute mistatements."

"So long as you have entered into the record of my securities," said Couzens, "will you please tell us what your securities are, how much you own of each and how much you will benefit by the reduction of surtaxes as proposed by you?"

"You refer to newspapers saying that all my capital is now in tax exempt securities and you assume that it is true because I have not denied it. Certainly I cannot enter into a denial of everything the newspapers print, but I wish to point out to you that such a statement is absolutely untrue—that I have millions of dollars invested in buildings, real estate and building operations, and I ask if this is more productive than money invested in distilleries and breweries.

"I do not know why it is necessary to tell the absolute untruths in saying that my wealth is all in tax exempt securities and that I pay no income tax. I already have pointed out some of the taxes I have paid and there are some years, of course, when my losses have exceeded my taxable income. In addition I gave to hospitals and crippled children in 1919 nearly 400 shares of Ford motor stock

RATIFICATION OF RUM TREATY WITH BRITAIN AWAITED

Washington, Jan. 19—British ratification of the proposed Anglo-American rum treaty probably will be forwarded to this government within the next two weeks, International News Service learned today.

The great length of time that has elapsed since this government sent a revised draft of the treaty to Great Britain was occasioned, according to officials here by the fact that the matter was submitted to all of the British dominions by Foreign Secretary Curzon and they have been dilatory in replying.

It is understood, however, that the draft of the treaty, as revised by Secretary Hughes, has been approved by a majority of the British dominions. The fact that the Baldwin ministry is to retire shortly in favor of the labor government has undoubtedly led Curzon to speed the matter up as far as possible in the opinion of officials here, in order that credit for executing the treaty might go to that administration.

Similar rum treaties being negotiated by this government with the governments of The Netherlands and other powers are described by state department officials as "progressing satisfactorily."

RECORD NUMBER OF ARRESTS MADE BY BUTLER IN PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, Jan. 19.—With another day to go into the 48-hour onslaught against vice and crime, Brigadier General Butler's army of cops today was enjoying the fruits of victory.

In the first twelve hours of the new weekly two-day offensive, the police set what is believed to be a record for arrests when they took into custody 358 alleged law violators. This number included 149 persons arrested for disorderly conduct and idleness; 71 for violations of the liquor laws and 67 for infractions of the motor laws.

General Butler was elated today over the "go-get-'em" spirit of his cohorts.

"Last night's work is an example of what the police can do and what they will do as long as I am a director of public safety. And it proves the benefit of injecting a little pep into the boys and eliminating politics from the department."

They were caught hiding small packages which contained 1,125 grams of morphine. The trio succeeded in escaping from the ship at Oporto December 21.

A second search was conducted before the Cardona arrived at Freeport Texas, and 550 grams' were found.

On its arrival here customs officials were notified, a thorough search of the vessel brought to light the third haul.

MONEY AT WORK

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments

Low prices for high-grade bonds, such as occurred in 1920, are really opportunities for buying rather than cause for alarm.

The true investor buys for income, and because he feels sure that the bond will be redeemed at its face value when it matures.

However, any investor who buys long term government bonds or any other long term bond must expect to see prices of these bonds fluctuate within relatively wide limits over a period of years.

He never needs to be alarmed by price fluctuations though, unless his bond declines rapidly against the general trend of market, which would indicate that the value of the security behind it had suffered.

When the prices of all high grade bonds fall, as in 1920, there is no cause for alarm. On the other hand, it is really an opportunity to buy at bargain prices.

DONAHEY FAVORS PROBE OF MINING

Columbus, Jan. 19.—Governor Donahey in an address before the Ohio Mine Workers' convention, indicated the possibility of the appointment of a "fact-finding commission," composed of miners and mining authorities, the functions of which would be to conduct an intensive survey of the present situation of unemployment among miners, and coal production throughout the Ohio coal fields. "We want to get at the seat of this trouble," Governor Donahey declared, "and the appointment of such a commission seems a feasible procedure." He indicated it would be appointed at the wish of the miners.

The governor also told the miners that he intended to appeal to the next general assembly for the necessary legislation giving prisoners of the state's penal institutions pay for work done by them, so that the families of each might be provided for during the period of their incarceration.

Styles BY LENORE

They call them Russian and they painted scarfs which you may have call them French, these new hand seen. But, if you have a knack for that sort of thing, you need only a length of white or colored silk, on which to paint your own design, to make the scarf American.

Silke faille with a very fine rib, or crepe de chine of substantial weight, is recommended. The scarfs are about 40 inches wide and 60 inches long, and Chinese designs are popular. One very attractive scarf had the design painted in yellow and red on a back ground. Floral patterns are also used. I spoke above of a knack for painting; but so long as there is a stencil to be had, there need be no lack of knack.

WORTH KNOWING

The newest thing in knitted costumery is a knee-length slip-on blouse.

Soft shades, such as beige, Lanvin green, henna and subdued yellows are said to be replacing more vivid colors in sport clothes.

Cire and striped or plaided gros grain ribbons are frequently used for bindings in sport dresses and sleeveless jackets.

SKATER DROWNED

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 30c.

TO INSTALL PIPE ORGAN AT CHRIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

The installation of a new pipe organ, which arrived in this city this week, will take place at Christ Episcopal Church, next week. The organ has been presented to the church by Miss Sarah Hagar, as a memorial to the Hagar family, prominent members of the church congregation.

The value of the organ has not been announced by the principals but is said to be in the neighborhood of $5,000. The organ was manufactured by the Este Organ Manufacturing company, at Brattleboro, Vermont. It will be the first pipe organ placed in the Christ Episcopal Church here.

F. L. Whidden, of the Este Company, who installed the organ at the National Cash Register Company, Dayton, will arrive here next week, and assist in the installation.

Mrs. Alice Ruthrauff, who has served as organist at Christ Episcopal Church, will continue in that capacity. An organ recital, when an out-of-town organist will appear, will follow the installation at an early date.

HAVE KIDNEYS EXAMINED BY YOUR DOCTOR

Take Salts to Wash Kidneys If Back Pains You or Bladder Bothers.

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids, to help cleanse the kidneys anl flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

SEAT MEMBERS OF COUNTY SCHOOL BOARD SATURDAY

J. B. Rife, Clifton, and H. E. Bales, Paintersville, were seated as members of the County Board of Education, at the annual reorganization meeting held at the office of County Superintendant of Scvhools H. C. Aultman, Saturday afternoon. Mr. Bales is a new member of the board, and Mr. Rife is beginning a new term.

Major A. W. Robbins, of Wilbur Wright field, Fairfield, was present at the meeting, and conferred with the Board members concerning the housing of children of the aviation field employes, being educated in that district. The large number has overcrowded the Fairfield school, resulting in an appeal for federal aid by the County Board. The aid can only be secured through the efforts of United State Congressman S. D. Fess, of Yellow Springs, through a possible special appropriation by Congress, it is said.

XENIA ROPE WORKS HAVE A STRONG RIVAL IN BELFAST

When the editor finds what he thinks would interest his readers, he gives it to them, in preference to something from his own pen. From a paper which comes to our table, we take the following extract from a late Belfast, Ireland, letter:

"Probably the best known of Belfast products are the linens. Manufacture of linen is a ery old Irish industry and of world-wide renown. The Irish wore linen garments as far back as the twelfth century, and the industry is known to have been in a flourishing condition in 1216, though it was not of great importance until the reign of Charles I. Until the application of steam power to the looms the weaving of linen was mostly a cottage industry. In 1850 there were in all Ireland only fifty-eight power looms for weaving linen. Today there are nearly 40,000.

"The Irish fields of flax with their pretty blue flowers are a beautiful sight in midsummer. Because of the peculiar superiority of this flax to that grown in other countries the Irish linen industry, bids fair to remain pre-eminent in the whole world.

"While a good deal of flax is grown in Belgium, it cannot be used without an admixture of flax grown in Ireland. The better the linen, the more Irish flax must be used, owing to some difference in the strength and length of the fibers. It is generally recognized that it is impossible to make as good linen in Canada and the United States as in Ireland. There is something in the Irish climate and water that seems specially suited to this industry.

"So we find in Belfast the largest linen manufacturing concern in the world; the largest firm of linen thread, twine and netting manufacturers in the world; the largest single flax-spinning industry in the world and the largest linen export trade of any area of equal extent in the world.

"Nor is that all. Belfast has the largest rope works in the world, covering more than forty-five acres and in normal times giving employment to more than 3,500 persons who annually convert about 15,000 tons of hemp into products ranging from a fishing line to a hawser capable of securing the Leviathan. Then must be added mention of the largest tobacco factory in the world and you have a complete list of the industries in which Belfast is without an equal.

In fairness to Ulster it must be remembered that this extraordinary industrial development has taken place in a part of the country nowise specially favored by nature over other parts of Ireland. It is the outcome of a spirit of enterprise, added to the industry and business sagacity which have ever been characteristics of the Ulsterman.

"The Ulsterman tells you very frankly that he is enjoying a prosperity superior to the rest of Ireland and that it would be jeopardized if the six county area renounced its union with Great Britain and entered into political association with the Irish Free State. Even if distrust of the business ability of the Free State were the chief obstacle to a union, which it certainly is not. Free State economists would find they had a real task on their hands to convince the Northern Government of Ireland that the existence of one national government would not be prejudicial to the industrial interests of Ulster."

NEED FELT FOR UNITY IN PEACE DRIVES.

The desire for peace flames in the hearts of a vast majority of the human race. In the United States fully one-third of the adult population is engaged in a conscious effort to find the means for attaining harmonious relations and permanent peace among the nations and races of the earth, through their duly accredited spokesmen in 32 organizations maintained for the primary purpose of advancing that cause. There are many other organizations, formed primarily for other purposes, which nevertheless maintain active departments and committees for promoting the peace movement.

At first it seems anomalous that a movement supported by such tremendous numbers has been so barren of results. It is aximotic however, that any effective peace program depends upon political action. The will of the people must be communicated to the government powers and by them translated into laws, treaties and policies. It is not sufficient that each nation shall provide its own methods for maintaining amicable relations with the rest of the world, but the methods of all must converge in a common program.

The force of the conscious will for peace on the part of one-third the adult population of America has been largely dissipated. Not only has there been no agreement on a single formula but many of the organizations are intolerant of others. The referendum on the Bok prize peace plan is the most effectual step that has ever been taken to unite the peace forces upon a single formula for political action. Never before in the history of the peace movement in the United States has there been such a stupendous attempt to transmute the will of the people for peace into a mandate to the Government.

FRIENDSHIP

Friendship is never cheap! Time cannot fade it,
Not heartless enemies invade it—
Pure gold, it wears; The changing seasons,
The public fancy and the fashion's treasons
Dim not its lustre. Men and manners
Nations and boundaries and banners
May alter but true friendships, neevr
Its firm foundation stands forever.

Progress may wreck the palace guarded,
Customs once fair may be discarded;
Change is the monarch of opinions;
The old pass out of Thought's dominions,
But friendship stays. Though Time be cruel,
Friendship is still life's brightest jewel,
Hate cannot kill nor custom flout it.
Men cannot live their joys without it.

Time may destroy what now we cherish,
Even the truth we teach may perish
As men the will of God read clearer
And to His purposes draw nearer;
But though our thought and manners vary,
Friendship shall still be necessary.
Time cannot rust, decay or smother
Men's true devotion to each other.

A young housekeeper has written to ask for an article on deep-fat frying. "There are many other brides who would appreciate it, I am sure," she ends her letter.

The ideal frying fat is a vegetable oil. Olive oil gives the best results, but as this is too expensive for the average pocketbook, any of the prepared cooking oils are next best. Lard comes third in the choice, beef fat fourth and odds and ends of household scraps last. A mixture of two-thirds lard and one-third home-rendered fat gives splendid results—in fact, it produces a rich golden-brown color unequalled by any other fat.

To "try out" beef fat for frying, cut it in small pieces and cover with cold, salted water; let stand overnight, then drain, add a cup of cold water to each two pounds of the fat, and cook over mild heat till the fat is clear, all bubbling ceased, and the "scrapple" or "crackling" is brown and crisp. Now strain it through cheesecloth into a clean pail.

Mutton fat may also be used in the frying kettle, but this must be soaked a full 24 hours in cold salted water, and this water changed every few hours, to wash out the "woolly" taste. Proceed as above directed.

Corned Beef Fat and fat from the soup kettle may be prepared as follows: let it rise to top of the liquid and solidify, then remove it to the fat pan, add a little baking soda and cold water barely to cover, then let it cook very slowly till the water has evaporated. Or the water may be ommitted and the soda and a few slices of raw potato may be added to the fat instead. When the potato has become brown, the fat is clarified.

Do not use ham, chicken, bacon or sausage fat in the deep-frying kettle. Keep these for the frying pan. To try out chicken fat, let it stand for one hour in cold, salted water, then drain and place it in an open pan and put the pan in your oven. Pour off the melted fat as fast as it appears. (Goose fat is tried out in the same way.)

With the proper care, fat will last as long as a drop of it remains. When nearly cold, after using it for deepfrying, strain it through a cloth into a clean can. But after you have used it several times it will not color the fried foods as well and when cooked they may have a slightly unpleasant taste. When this condition is reached, you must clarify your fat as follows: Heat it with a slice of raw potato and a generous pinch of soda in it; when the potato is brown, strain the fat through cloth into a clean pail, for future use.

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Musterole is a counter-irritant that relieves congestion (which is what a cold really is) and stimulates circulation.

It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

Just rub it on with your finger-tips. First you will feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness.

GO RIGHT ON!

There isn't a human being alive who does not at some time or other feel the oppressive hand of some unseen force or fear.

And hardly a day passes but what each of us asks himself the question: "I wonder why?"

And that's just why—so that big YOU in you may answer back: Go right on!

It was Nelson, I believe, who once said that when he was undecided whether to fight or not, he always fought.

And Mark Twain it was who said: "When in doubt, tell the truth!"

The mariner only knows his chart. The vast sea is a stranger every time he sails its waters. And so he keeps close to his chart and compass and goes right on.

Our little craft may seem small indeed on the vast sea of life but if our chart is at hand and our compass right, we may pass through every fear and storm.

Are you troubled? Go right on

Are you unhappy, all confused? Go right on.

Many times none of us know why we should or do, but somehow we do, and we are always glad that we do.

Most of our unhappy hours come from a lock of plan and purpose. We have no perspective by which we may busy the sleeping finenesses of our inner nature. But once a definite program of life is set forth, we feel the rising urge of a thousand holy impulses knocking at the door of our heart.

And these say. Go right on. And we do!

STATE SHOULD PAY FEDERAL ROAD COST SAYS MAC DONALD

Congressman Charles Brand has received a letter from Thomas H. MacDonald, Chief of the Bureau of Roads, under the Federal Government, which proves that Mr. MacDonald does not straddle ,neither does he hesitate to state facts, nor is he afraid to express opinions.

Replying to a letter of Mr. Brand he says:

"You call attention to the fact that in Ohio the state's half of the cost of Federal-aid projects is secured by an assessment of 20 per cent against the property along the road, 30 per cent against the township in which the road is located, and 50 per cent against the county as a whole. You further state that the present plan of securing funds to match Federal-aid in Ohio results in placing the burden of about three-fourth of the state's share of the cost in a large percentage of the counties on the shoulders of the rural people, which you think is unfair; and that since the Federal law contemplates that 50 per cent of the cost of federal aid roads shall be paid by the national goverment and the other half by the states, justice requires that the state's half be paid by the state itself and not by the local political subdivisions or adjacent farm property.

"I agree with you fully that the method of financing federal-aid projects, which you outline as being followed in Ohio, places an unfair burden on the rural people.

"As you point out, the hundreds of miles of lesser roads which constitute feeders to the system of federal-aid highways in each county are sufficient special burden for the rural people to carry without imposing upon them the extra and unfair burden of bearing a large percentage of the state's share of the cost of the main highways embraced in the system and used more largely by other than local or community traffic.

"You have asked that I suggest what amendment to the Federal Highway Act would be necessary to make it compulsory that the states at large furnish the funds to meet the federal-aid funds. I suggest that possibly the easiest way to accomplish this would be to change the definition of the term "State Funds" as it now appears in last clause of Section Two of the Federal Highway Act by eliminating therefrom the words "or any political or other subdivision thereof." This amendment, taken in connection with Section Seven of the act, would have the effect of making it compulsory on the states to provide funds solely from state revenue sources to meet the federal-aid funds rather than from the local political subdivisions and by assessments on adjacent farm property."

Mr. MacDonald also gives Mr. Brand a list of 23 states that meet the federal-aid by furnishing the amount necessary to meet federal aid from their general state funds, thus making everybody in the state pay a fair share of these main roads.

In addition 14 other states follow this plan with very slight exception, only 11 states following the plan in vogue in Ohio; and the department voices as its unqualified opinion that it is wrong and unfair, and suggests an amendment to the law to correct the wrong, which Mr. Brand will investigate thoroughly and probably introduce.

Mr. Brand declares that the state of Ohio has a surplus in the treasury of 20 millions in the general fund, according to State Auditor Joseph T. Tracy's report, and Mr. Brand figures that it is accumulating at the rate of five or six millions a year, and only three millions a year would be required to meet federal aid in the state of Ohio, so that no additional taxation is necessary in that state to bring about a fair arrangement to everybody in the matter of paying the costs of federal-aid roads in the state.

INFANT CARRIED 1,000 MILES TO FAMOUS DOCTORS

Philadelphia, Jan. 19.— Four world famous physicians headed by Dr. Chevalier Jackson, today began a series of consultations over a mite of humanity, carried 1,000 miles in a race with death that their skill might be employed to save his life.

The object of their ministrations, Cletus Moore ,aged eight months of St. Louis, writhed in a crib in the university hospital racked with the pain from a carpet tack in his lung. He was registered at the hospital at five o'clock by Mrs. Lela A. Parrish, of St. Louis, who cared for him in the cross country trip while the father, too poor to do otherwise, continued to work and the mother looked after her other children.

The surgeons who will do their work free of charge, are attempting to determine whether or not an immediate operation is expedient Dr. Jackson said delay is sometimes advisable.

CALLS ATTENTION TO LAW GOVERNING SALE OF ALCOHOL

A warning regarding the sale of all poisons, and particularly, "denatured alcohol," was sounded here Friday by State Drug Inspector A. G. Snow, enforcement officer of the State Board of Pharmacy, in a statement issued for publication following an inspection trip here.

"Denatured Alcohol" may be sold by druggists, hardware stores, garages, filling stations and other similar places of business, yet all sales of the product, when it is put into a bottle, jug, can or other container, must be properly labelled with a poison label," according to Mr. Snow.

"This label must bear the skull and cross bones and contain this wording: 'completely denatured alcohol—deadly poison,' and must have printed thereon, two antidotes for such poisoning. Also, and of especial importance, the law requires that a record of such sale must be kept in the place of business where such sale is made, and such record must be as follows: the date, purchaser's name and address. the amount, the alleged use, and the dispenser's name.' Failure to comply with either feature of this law, which is Section 12667, Ohio Pharmacy Law, is punishable by a fine of $10 and costs."

Mr. Snow advises that a close check up will be made in March and that prosecutions will follow failure to comply with this order. Activities of the department in this respect are said to have followed a number of cases in northern Ohio where the alcohol was sold without proper application of the law, and was used for internal purposes, resulting fatally. A copy of the law has been left at the offices of The Gazette and The Republican for dealers to see.

Section 12708-3, applies particularly to the retail sale of "denatured alcohol" in amounts less than five gallons at a time. It says: "Whoever dispenses or sells completely denatured alcohol or wood alcohol in packages containing less than five wine gallons without having affixed thereto a label on which is printed or stenciled in plain, legible, red letters of equal prominence on white background the words, Completely Denatured Alcohol, of Wood Alcohol, as case may be, and in addition on the same label, in red ink, under the skull and cross bones symbol, the word "Poison" together with the following statement: Completely denatured alcohol, or wood alcohol, is a violent poison. It cannot be applied externally to human or animal tissue without serious injurious results. It cannot be taken internally without inducing blindness and general physical decay ultimately resulting in death," and without having stamped, stenciled or printed upon such label the name and address of the seller, degree of proof, and the formula number thereof, shall be fined not less than ten dollars nor more than fifty dollars. Neither the word 'pure' nor the single word 'alcohol' alone shall appear on any label of completely denatured alcohol or wood alcohol."

Although warnings regarding these laws were issued here Friday, no prosecutions grew out of the inspector's visit here. Prosecutions under these laws are pending in other places however.

GREB RETAINS TITLE BEATING WILSON EASILY

By Davis J. Walsh.

New York, Jan. 19.—Harry Greb, the champion, beat Johnny Wilson, the challenger for the middleweight championship of the world at Madison Square Garden last night, and if necessary, will continue to do so until he grows a crutch under his armpit. Greb proved himself Wilson's master forever and henceforth. If Wilson is the most worthy challenger in the middleweight division, Greb will go to his grave, hand-in-hand with the title.

However, this is altogether unlikely. As a matter of fact the Pittsburgh entry may be "taken" by the first plausible contender that hoves in view.

He seemed to have lost some of his dazzling speed last night in spite of a veritable cakewalk to the decision.

The writer conceded Wilson only two of the fifteen rounds, namely the third and fifth. The former champion flashed a punishing body attack in these rounds and altogether made a reasonably strong showing through the first half of the fight. After that he was outscored, four punches to one, and finished in a saunter. It was merely a case of one punch fighter and slow thinker trying to do business with a man who used all punches in discriminately and varied his attack with a change of pace.

EAST WINS BOTH ENDS OF DOUBLE COURT SET-TO

By L. J. Wones

East High school basketball team turned another win Friday night at the East High gym when they defeated the Alston Collegians by a 33 to 23 score in a tightly contested game.

Both teams battled hard throughout and it was in the last half that Coach Lewis's lads staged a rally that overcome the lead the Collegians had piled up. The passwork of the East End gang was high class while their basket shooting was good. This defense, however, was not up to standard.

The first quarter was hard fought. Lewis scored first with a foul that placed the visitors in the lead. E. Johnson turned in a long one and Aldrich counted with a free throw. Baker put his team in the running with a fielder. Johnson made a foul and Baker tossed in one from the charity line and H. Taylor caged a long one. The quarter ended with the score knotted at five all. The second quarter the locals opened up and when the half ended they were leading by a 13 to 8 score.

Baker and H. Taylor starred for the winners with 12 points apiece to their credit. Raymond also played well at center and kicked in with three fielders. S. Taylor at left forward score three points.

Johnson was the main stay for the stay for the Collegians with 12 points. This lad made five fielders and tossed in two from the foul line. E. Johnson played a fine game at guard.

Coach Lewis wishes to announce that the Collegians were not from Wilberforce and Dean Mohr was not connected with the club in any way. The team is run by Joe Alston.

The East High girls won over the Oxford girls by a 6 to 9 score in a well played contest. The teams were evenly matched. The score was tied at 7 all at the close of the first half Ward was the big noise for the winners with 7 field goals while Asbury tossed in two from the foul line.

WINCHESTER 5 BACK IN ACTION JANUARY 23

Babb's Winchesters, heretofore and erstwhile lying dormant and inactive will spring ambitiously into activity next Wednesday ngiht, playing crack Kingman five at Kingman.

The Kingman quintet is composed of former high school stars, of the teams that made Kingman High famous in this section. The Winchesters however, have been greatly strengthened by the addition of several new athletes.

Peters, who was captain of the Cedarville College five until he quit school recently, is now living here and has joined the Winchesters as a guard. He was considered one of the most capable performers on the Cedarville five and is expected to greatly strengthen the Winchesters.

Gegner, also recently joined the team, and this former Central High star added to the ability of the locals. In addition the Winchesters boast of such stars as Coach Reptinger, Captain Hendrickson, Baynard, Woolary, Witham, Riddell and Muterspaw.

The Winchesters will return to Miamisburg January 30 to meet the team there that defeated them by a close score several weeks ago.

CENTRAL LOSES TO MORAINE IN TIGHT CONTEST

By L. J. WONES

Central High school basketball team went down to defeat Friday night at the High school gym at the hands of Moraine Park High of Dayton. The final score was 18 to 17.

The locals were off color in their basket shooting and missed many easy shots at the net. On the other hand the winners displayed nice form. The defense put up by the Moraine outfit was tight especially in the second half as the blue and white five never located the net from the field in that period.

Fuller was first to score with two fouls. Getter put his team in the running with a foul. Johnson made one from the field. Schwab made a long one and the locals were leading by a 4 to 3 score at the end of the first quarter.

Rutan started things in the next period with a fielder. Guimaris tossed in a foul and Perrine duplicated his feat. Schwab looped one through and Heathman made good on a foul. The locals were still leading by a 9 to 6 score at the half.

The blue and white aggregation was held scoreless in the third period Bosler caged the leather twice for his team and this aws all the scoring in this quarter. Moraine Park was on the long end of the score as this quarter ended, 10 to 9.

The last quarter was hard fought. Coach Burgner's athletes were held scoreless again as they never tossed a single fielder during the eight minutes of play. Rutan annexed two fouls. Perrine counted with a foul. Schwab tossed one in from the charity line and Johnson duplicated Schwab's feat. Perrine made two points as did Gegraw. Schwab counted with a foul and Gegraw looped one through that counted for two points.

Schwab was high man in scoring with two field goals and two fouls for a total of 6 points. Rutan and Perrine were tied with 4 points apiece.

Bosler and Gegraw starred for the winners. Bosler tossed in two fielders and two fouls. Gegraw caged the pill once and made two from the free throw line. Johnson played an excellent game at guard.

Plans are being perfected for a fox drive to be held January 26, in Sugarcreek and Spring Valley Townships, centering on the William Alexander farm, on the Cincinnati pike, one mile north of Spring Valley.

The boundaries follow: Begin at railroad at Roxanna and proceed along the Roxanna-Burlington road to Caesarcreek; thence along the west side of Caesarcreek to the Burlington road and north along the Burlington road to the Peterson road at the township line; then west along the Peterson road to the Cincinnati pike; thence north along the Cincinnati pike to Hedge's road; thence along Hedge's road to the Lower Bellbrook pike; thence along the Lower Bellbrook pike to the Miami River near Bellbrook, and along the Miami River to Roxanna.

The drive will start at nine o'clock, and proceeds from the sale of foxes captured will be devoted to a fund for the benefit of Fred DeBarr, Sugarcreek Twp., farmer, who has been ill for a year.

Two hundred and fifty people took part in the drive held Thursday, but all foxes escaped through the lines and none were captured. Luncheon was served on the H. B. Talbott farm.

EAST WINS BOTH ENDS OF DOUBLE COURT SET-TO

By L. J. Wones

East High school basketball team turned another win Friday night at the East High gym when they defeated the Alston Collegians by a 33 to 23 score in a tightly contested game.

Both teams battled hard throughout and it was in the last half that Coach Lewis's lads staged a rally that overcome the lead the Collegians had piled up. The passwork of the East End gang was high class while their basket shooting was good. This defense, however, was not up to standard.

The first quarter was hard fought. Lewis scored first with a foul that placed the visitors in the lead. E. Johnson turned in a long one and Aldrich counted with a free throw. Baker put his team in the running with a fielder. Johnson made a foul and Baker tossed in one from the charity line and H. Taylor caged a long one. The quarter ended with the score knotted at five all. The second quarter the locals opened up and when the half ended they were leading by a 13 to 8 score.

Baker and H. Taylor starred for the winners with 12 points apiece to their credit. Raymond also played well at center and kicked in with three fielders. S. Taylor at left forward score three points.

Johnson was the main stay for the stay for the Collegians with 12 points. This lad made five fielders and tossed in two from the foul line. E. Johnson played a fine game at guard.

Coach Lewis wishes to announce that the Collegians were not from Wilberforce and Dean Mohr was not connected with the club in any way. The team is run by Joe Alston.

The East High girls won over the Oxford girls by a 6 to 9 score in a well played contest. The teams were evenly matched. The score was tied at 7 all at the close of the first half Ward was the big noise for the winners with 7 field goals while Asbury tossed in two from the foul line.

GREB RETAINS TITLE BEATING WILSON EASILY

By Davis J. Walsh.

New York, Jan. 19.—Harry Greb, the champion, beat Johnny Wilson, the challenger for the middleweight championship of the world at Madison Square Garden last night, and if necessary, will continue to do so until he grows a crutch under his armpit, Greb proved himself Wilson's master forever and henceforth. If Wilson is the most worthy challenger in the middlweight division, Greb will go to his grave, hand-in-hand with the title.

However, this is altogether unlikely. As a matter of fact the Pittsburgh entry may be "taken" by the first plausible contender that hoves in view.

He seemed to have lost some of his dazzling speed last night in spite of a veritable cakewalk to the decision.

The writer conceded Wilson only two of the fifteen rounds, namely the third and fifth. The former champion flashed a punishing body attack in these rounds and altogether made a reasonably strong showing through the first half of the fight. After that he was outscored, four punches to one, and finished in a saunter. It was merely a case of one punch fighter and slow thinker trying to do business with a man who used all punches in discriminately and varied his attack with a change of pace.

WINCHESTER 5 BACK IN ACTION JANUARY 23

Babb's Winchesters, heretofore and erstwhile lying dormant and inactive will spring ambitiously into activity next Wednesday night, playing crack Kingman five at Kingman.

The Kingman quintet is composed of former high school stars, of the teams that made Kingman High famous in this section. The Winchesters however, have been greatly strengthened by the addition of several new athletes.

Peters, who was captain of the Cedarville College five until he quit school recently, is now living here and has joined the Winchesters as a guard. He was considered one of the most capable performers on the Cedarville five and is expected to greatly strengthen the Winchesters.

Gegner, also recently joined the team, and this former Central High star added to the ability of the locals. In addition the Winchesters boast of such stars as Coach Reptinger, Captain Hendrickson, Baynard, Woolary, Witham, Riddell and Muterspaw.

The Winchesters will return to Miamisburg January 30 to meet the team there that defeated them by a close score several weeks ago.

Bacon Do It NOW!

"A wise man will make more opportunities than he finds," wrote Bacon in one of his essays.

We will concede that Bacon was a wise man—wise enough in his day to make more opportunities than he could possibly find by the most minute search.

But we'd like to see him come back to earth today and make more opportunities than any child can find with ease in the A-B-C Classified Section.

In Bacon's day they didn't have any place in which were assembled all the opportunities of a community.

COUZENS FLINGS TAX CHALLENGE AT SECRETARY MELLON

of a market value of nearly $2,000,000 on which I was receiving 35 per cent dividends on par value of $400,000 or $140,000 per year, on which I could readliy have paid a 50 per cent income tax and had a comfortable income besides.

"I do not want in any way to convey the impression that I am ashamed of the fact that I have been a large purchaser of state and municipal bonds. A considerable part of these were Detroit city bonds which I took at a time when there was difficulty in securing the money needed for schools, sewers and other most essential public works.

"May I point out further that the effect of making these state and municipal bonds subject to tax would be to increase their interest rate and thereby simply add to the tax burden of cities and states. In effect it would amount to taking money from local public treasuries and transferring it to the federal government."

"The two fundamentals used by you in recommending reduction of surtaxes first, the present surtax is reducing government revenue from that source, and, two, that it is diverting money for necessary industrial purposes, have evidently been abandoned," he continued. "I am delighted that I have convinced you of the fallacy of these two fundamental reasons. However, you have not answered by inquiry as to which are the most productive enterprises to put money into.

"Schools, waterworks, sewers, hospitals, good roads, lighting plants street railways and colleges, or theaters, ball parks, breweries, distilleries, cosmetic and chewing gum factories and office buildings.

"The country would be glad to have your opinion and I urge you to give it to us.

"You have failed to accept my invitation to debate publicly these questions and I repeat my invitation."

In his letter to Couzens, Tuesday, Mr. Mellon cited the stagnancy of railroad stocks as one proof that it is difficult to get money into productive enterprises.

Couzens replied to this today by declaring the reason people won't buy railroad stocks is that the railroads are "constantly crying about," and exhibiting their poverty."

"The purpose of this campaign, of course," he said "is to increase freight rates."

The Michigan senator also declared there was a plenty of money now going into building activities and cited figures to show there was more building in 1923 than in 1921,

FARM PROGRESS

POTATO YIELD IS NOTED BY FARM BUREAU RECORDS

Nine hundred and fifteen bushels of certified seed potatoes, purchased by Greene County farmers last spring, yielded 39 bushels per acre more than home grown seed in 1922, it has been found by the Greene County Farm Bureau.

Judging by two large orders already received at the Farm Bureau office, from growers who have used certified seed for two or more years ,the Bureau will be able to order a car of late Petoskeys or Rural Russets and will pool the Early Ohio orders with other counties on a car to be distributed out of Columbus.

Farmers desiring to take advantage of securing some of this high vitality certified, northern grown seed should get in touch with the Farm Bureau office early, so that the potatoes can be ordered in plenty of time to arrive for planting.

SUSPENSION OF SERVICE LOOMS

Akron, O., Jan. 19.—Suspension of all streetcar service in Akron at midnight, Jan. 31, seemed certain when officials of the Northern Ohio Traction and Light company refused definitely to extend the present 5-cent fare for two months, pending completion of new franchise negotiations. In an ordinance passed by council, the traction company was given six days in which to accept the terms or tear up its tracks Feb. 1.

U. S. MAY TAKE DECISIVE STEP

Washington,, Jan. 18.—The gravity of the Mexican situation was discussed at some length by President Coolidge and his cabinet today in a two-hour session.

The project of sending American naval vessels to Tampico, which has been bombarded by Mexican revolutionists, is understood to have been considered. Members declined to say whether any decision was reached on this point.

Adolfo De La Huerta, the revolutionary leader in command of the rebel strong hold at Vera Cruz, has ignored the protests of this government against any blockade of Tampico, and this fact coupled with the bombardment of the city by two rebel gunboats had led administration officials to the verge of positive action.

SLAYER GRANTED STAY

Columbus, Jan. 19.—Ohio supreme court granted a stay of execution until Feb. 8 to Mike Sipsich of Duncanwood, Harrison county, under sentence of death in the Ohio penitentiary for the murder of his wife. RAIL ACCIDENTS IN ENGLAND

London, Jan. 17.—There was only one railway accident in England involving loss of life during 1923. This was at Diggle in July, when two passengers were killed. Since the beginning of the present century there have been two years, 1901 and 1908, without a single fatality to passengers. In only three years have more than five persons been killed and in 23 years the number of deaths totals only 73.

INFANT BEHEADED

Cleveland, Jan. 18.—A new-born baby girl, with its head severed, was found wrapped in a sheet of gingham, in the East End, by children on their way to school. Police took the dead infant to the county morgue, where Coroner A. P. Hammond characterized it as a "plain case of brutal murder."

DONAHEY NOT TO CALL LEGISLATURE

Columbus, O. Jan. 18—Governo Donahey today indicated he will not call a special session of the State Legislature to enact emergency tax measures for the relief of municipalities in need of financial aid. Officials of leading Ohio cities have urged that this be done.

The governor asserted he does not have power to call the Legislature because it has merely recessed and only the joint committee of the bodies can bring them together."

Three forms of taxation are advocated by Governor Donahey. He believes in a one per cent tax on real estate, a graduated income tax with proper exemptions and a similar inheritance tax. Taxes on so-called "personal" property should be abolished, the governor believes.

ACCUSE WOOD OF CHANGE OF POLICY

Washinton, Jan. 19—Governor General Leonard Wood of the Phillipines was accused today by members of the Phillipine Indpendence Mission with "backing down" from his former autocratic administration in an effort to avoid a congressional investigation.

Members of the mission headed by Manuel Roxas, speaker of the Phillippine House of Representatives, declared that General Wood, fearing the impending investigation, is reversing all of his previous policies in-so-far as his dealings with the native government are concerned.

AN ACCEPTED OFFER
Chapter 69

As Hope stood beside Lee and heard him tell her with his own lips, that he was going back, going to Cynthia, it swept over her in a black surge of pain that this then must be the end.

She was afraid to look at him, afraid to speak. Only one desire seemed uppermost in her mind. As long as she must let him go she wanted him to go quickly.

She glanced down through the gathering dusk at her wrist watch. She wished almost that if it were possible for him to go at once. If only he could catch the night train. She was seized with a mad frenzy to have him leave before her strength should fail her. There was something in his voice and manner that warned her that he too had learned to care even more than she had dreamed.

Lee saw her look at her watch and instinctively he glanced at his own. Perhaps he too was thinking of the night train, she thought.

"You couldn't make it, could you?" she asked, and her voice sounded unnatural to her as the words slipped out.

"I'll try!" he returned and went toward the cabin.

She stood looking after him without thinking of what he had said, but conscious of the fact that his own voice sounded dead and hollow like her own.

Then suddenly she realized what he was going to do and she sped after him up the path.

"Listen! Be reasonable! You could not possibly make it by 9 o'clock. It takes two hours of fast walking over the road and it's after 7 now," she insisted.

He looked down at her for a moment as if he were provoked with her for interfering when she had been so willing to let him go. He had hoped that she cared a little, and even though there were great barriers between them he felt that she surely would have told him if she cared at all. Now he was desperate. He would go to Cynthia. What did it matter!

"But I'm going," he said abruptly.

"Not that way. You could not walk the distance by 9 o'clock. It would only just be useless," she tried to persuade. "But we—we could make it by the river —in the canoe."

He looked at her blankly.

"The river—Moose Creek! I know every inch of it," she exclaimed.

"What!—you—you'll go with me?" he demanded, unable to understand her.

"Listen! We must hurry," she told him, speaking rapidly. "I have taken a canoe down that river many, many times—often just for deviltry and—and relief. I know every inch of it; every rock and log. And it takes less than an hour that way. Don't you see?" she demanded.

"Yes, I see," he said at last. "You, you are extremely anxious to be rid of me I guess. But I'll go. There's something about it that suits my mood."

His words bruised her heart. So he thought that was why she wanted him to go—and yet; did she dare tell him differently?

"We will have to hurry," she reminded.

"I'll leave a note for Jim," he suggested, turning and running toward the cabin.

And then, as she waited for him, she thought of Hugh and wondered where he was and if perhaps Steve might not be bringing him back to her that very minute.

Bpt she could not turn back now. She was determined to have this last wild ride with Lee. She could always keep the memory of it with her through the dreary future.
